Forecast for Sunday 25 Jun 2023

Weather: Mainly dry and bright to start before clouding over by mid-morning as a band of heavy rain, with a risk of becoming thundery at times, moves east into early afternoon. This bringing stronger winds for a time but should clear by mid-afternoon, leaving sunnier spells behind though still a risk of isolated showers or thunderstorms following. Turning much fresher later.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 80% or more at first, decreasing to around 30% in the band of rain and cloud, and then increasing 80% later.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud may lower onto hills above about 400 or 500 metres temporarily during heavier bursts of rain, otherwise cloud above summits. Visibility very good to excellent post front, but decreasing to moderate or poor during heavier rain or thunderstorms.

Forecast for Monday 26 Jun 2023

Weather: A fine and bright start with plenty of sunshine. Cloud bubbling up by midmorning but staying largely dry with some bright or sunny spells through the day, though with the odd shower possible through the morning. Cloud turning hazy at times with thicker higher level cloud then approaching from the west during the late evening. Feeling cooler than of late.

Maximum wind: Westerly 20 mph, gusting 25-30 mph.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops 600m: 80%

Low cloud and visibility: Patches of low cloud first thing with bases around 500 m, these soon rising and clearing with cloud bases then above summits. Very good to excellent visibilities throughout.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 14 degrees Celsius rising to plus 20 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 14 degrees Celsius.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
